KNOWLEDGE

Our people know your people, your job, your business, your applications and your industry. We have the experience that comes from working with you in the field, not just running the business from behind a desk.

At MPT, we don't just repair your tool, our experienced technicians rebuild virtually any make of tool to meet or exceed the factory specifications. It is not unusual for MPT to have identified a weak component in a popular tool and manufactured a new part that exceeds the performance of the original part. Send your tools to MPT for a service experience that is guaranteed to satisfy your needs and your budget.

People make the difference.

We would like to invite you to visit our facility. Distributors who have done so come away impressed with our expansive inventory and by the wide range of capabilities in our service and engineering departments. Our inventory control and ordering procedures are computer driven but it's our people who make the difference. When you call into our office, speak with our sales staff, technicians, or product specialists, we aim to provide the best solution to your needs and applications. We dedicate ourselves to the proper engineering and quality assurance standards.
